

MISS MARY ALICE MCCLELLAN SELECTED AS
"PIN-UP QUEEN"

VOL. 4

FORT DEFIANCE, VA., MAY, 1946

No. 7

CORPS SELECTS A.M.A.'s PIN-UP QUEEN FOR 1946

In the third contest of its kind ever to be held at A.M.A. Miss Mary Alice McClellan, daughter of Senator and Mrs. John C. McClellan, was selected to be the Pin Up Queen for the season 1945-46. A landslide of votes from the cadet corps gave Miss McClellan this honor.

Her picture, shown at the upper left-hand corner of this page, was entered by Cadet Saxon, a third year cadet at the academy. He will escort her to the dance that will be held in her honor on May 10, where she will be crowned queen and lead the dance for the cadets.

Other honors which will fall to Miss McClellan will be to review the Corps in a Dress Parade with Cadet First Captain David Brewer. Her transportation to and from Augusta will be paid by The Bayonet and Cotillion Club. Her expenses while on the campus will also be taken care of. She will remain on the campus for about three days and lead the cadets in their activities while she is here. Miss McClellan headed a list of five who qualified for places in the contest. They were: Second place went to Miss Norma Ree Craig of Roanoke, Va., who was entered by Cadet Bob Nelson. Third place, Miss Lucy Acord, who was entered by Cadet Pete Wreden. Miss Dorothy Lee Dunn took fourth place and Miss Katie Kuehl was chosen for fifth place.

Unlike the way the contest originally started, the Queen was elected by a majority vote of the Corps. In the original election, a staff was appointed to elect the queen. We feel the new way of choosing will prove more satisfactory, and the Corps will be more satisfied with the outcome.

At the Pin Up Queen Dance, which will be held in Miss McClellan's honor, the four runners-up will act as Maids-of-Honor for the Queen. Flowers will be furnished for these maids, and a very large crowd is expected to attend this dance.

Miss McClellan will be escorted to the stage by Cadet Paul Moerschell, editor of The Bayonet, with a Guard of Honor consisting of the other members of The Bayonet Staff. Major Roller will then crown her as the Pin Up Queen of Augusta, and the Corps is expected to support her and show her the finest time of her life. This is a great honor for any girl, and Miss McClellan is truly worthy of this honor.

This will be Miss McClellan's second visit to the campus, as she was here for the Mid-Winter Formal.

MISS NORMA REE CRAIG

MISS KATIE KUEHL

CADETS ATTEND "EASTER MORN" SERVICE

Easter Sunday was the scene of a most impressive religious service when the entire cadet corps assembled on the steps outside of the Main Barracks to take part in the Annual "Y" Sun-Rise service. The speaker for the occasion was Capt. O. A. Davis who gave a most inspiring talk. Cadets Snarr and Hays led the corps in prayer. Mrs. W. S. Robinson was accompanist for the hymns.

DAVID BREWER IS NAMED VALEDICTORIAN FOR 1946

At a special meeting of the fourth year men, Cadet First Capt. David Brewer was named the valedictorian of his class. He will give the Address of Farewell at Commencement, June 5, 1946. This is the first time that the class as a whole voted upon this great honor. In previous years our co-principals decided who was to make this speech. The Corps congratulates "Dave" upon this—another addition to his list of honors.

RULES FOR STUDY

The following article if read and taken to heart will greatly improve everyone's studying and will prove a great asset towards improving your grades. Follow the rules given here and it will be an aid to all the cadets. Find a reasonably quiet place to study and remove distracting objects from the study table. Ask yourself sample questions such as you might be asked in class and answer them accurately. Take clear notes in class and use them in preparing your lessons. Use the hours when your mind is freshest for your hardest subjects or for working difficult mathematical problems. If you have any difficulty in any of your subjects discuss these with your instructor. Have a study schedule and stick to it. Work while you work and don't mix work with play. Make sure you understand your assignments and do most of your studying by yourself. Keep up with current events and read worthwhile magazines and discuss events with your classmates. Remember, the habit of doing things to the best of your ability and doing work of high quality is apt to stick with you through life and eventually lead to success.—Excerpts from article by DR. A. M. ALLEN, in Hampden-Sydney College Tiger.

BAYONET AND RECALL TO HONOR TWO CADETS

At a special meeting of the combined staffs of the school paper and yearbook it was decided to honor two outstanding cadets by awarding them a RECALL pin. This honor will be given to those two cadets who in the opinion of the publications' staffs have done most for the school. Their academics, participa-

QUADRANGLE QUIRPS"

"Speedy" Thornton crawls under high hurdles at Bridgewater track meet. Something new has been ordered.

Why didn't "Casanova" Crosby keep his date at the officers' dance last Friday?

Co-Capt. "Tip" is keeping his side of the bench warm.

If your daily shower isn't as hot as it should be, go down to the boiler room and pull Luciano out of his bed down there, and get him to shovel a little more coal on.

Who was that handsome waiter at the White Swan who was wearing a stockin' cap, and breakin' all the officers?

One of the C. W. officers' swords is bent all out of shape after the whole corps passed in review over it.

When did your trash can disappear last Sunday, Buck?

Who are the two boys in Room 215 which get letters from the same girl? Ask Francis.

Ask Rockwell what "Nannie" means. Who won between Davidson and Capt. Kramer Saturday night? UH! Harley.

Look in 234 and see who has all the shoes. Osheroff has moved from the 4th stoop tower.

Who says that it's colder than its "Beener Been."

What's this about Brownly, J. taking on the whole epee team?

The latest rumor is that "Buck" Collinge is married; he might be, he's been going with Lois for five years.

What's this about Dave G. being jilted again? Tough luck; try again.

What's this about alumnus "Don Cashin" and Lou Crawford. Who does she really belong to, fellows?

They say that Gibbs gets along with girls. So he claims; how's about it?

Those Silver Spring girls really wowed a few boys during the last vacation. How about Dick and Jerry.

Ask Winston, Sanders and Gregory about the woman marines.

Rumor has it that Grove and Hrisis are going half and half on Hrisis's next invention.

Will Bill Wilson get a bid to the Stuart Hall dance?

All the fellows in THE corner got a bid to the Stuart Hall dance except Crispin. Oh, the life of a new cadet.

Who was that sergeant from another military school at the officers' dance? Everyone called him p-a-l—.

Gliboff and Lea are giving their all but Lea wins by a nostril.

There was quite a gathering in room 320 at the Arcadia last Monday. Could tion in sports, general attitude, military decorum, unselfish devotion to duty, true interest in the school will be the factors considered.

it be that someone was passing out cigars?

Want that address pretty bad, don't you, Fisher? Betty R., ———, Pa.

Someone said that Willie kissed Lucille or Lucille kissed Willie or something.

There's a rumor going around that the inspection was a "quickie." Is that right 4th stoop tower?

What happened while you were home, Johnny VV? A girl maybe?

Someone said that the games Brewer and Bowie play are pretty rough. What's your opinion, David?

Ask Major McCue about his 4th period exam in Algebra? (Question—What is -1-5 plus 9. The answer is plus 2.)

Did Malloy enjoy his turtle dinner? The frog legs were delicious.

How does "Jumbo" like his new suit? Haitz feels slighted with the arrival of his unparalleled competitor.

"Blueboy" still is proud of his nickname—every day of the week and twice on Sunday.

The Staunton papers carried the story that an A.M.A. cadet's sister, Miss Norma Jean East of Uniontown, Penna., was selected as "Miss S.M.A. for 1946." It is a shame that Eddie did not enter his sister in the Bayonet Pin-Up Contest. Incidentally she is only fifteen but of course S.M.A. always did have good taste. Perhaps the girls from the North are more sophisticated than the ones from the South. That would be a good question to debate at the Literary Societies. Another Civil War might ensue. Then we would have something really worthwhile for this column.

ERNEST VER WIEBE

One of the more boisterous fellows around school is Ernie Ver Wiebe. Ernie, as sergeant major this year, has done an outstanding job and has been commended for it many times. While a member of the swimming team last year, he proved an asset to it many a time during the meets. This is his last year here so we wish him all the luck in the world at Harvard where he is going to prepare to be a lawyer. When we need legal advice Ernie, we'll look you up in your New York office.

NAE HUGH PEARSON

Hugh entered A.M.A. in December of '45, and he plans to enter the University of North Carolina and study medicine after graduating from A.M.A. this June. We all knew him as a good player on our 150 lb. football team and as friend here at school, and know that there is good material in him for whatever he plans to do in his future.

NORMAN "SKIP" FREEMAN

"Skip" came to Augusta three years ago and has since acquired the reputation of horseman around school. He has filled this capacity many times as aide to the Commandant. He has risen to the rank of second lieutenant in "B" Company and has well proved his efficiency as an officer. As a member of the baseball squad, he has again displayed one of his many talents. When June fifth rolls around, it will be hard to say so long to "Skip."

LUDLOW GRINER

When there's some commotion around barracks, you can always expect "Lud" to be in the middle of the fracas. Trifling has been the main hobby of his during his three years at Augusta, however he has distinguished himself in other ways. This year he was one of the top men in our crack fencing team and certainly proved himself an able swordsman. He is a platoon sergeant in "B" Company this year and is one of the top non-coms in that company. Ludlow expects to be drafted after graduation this June, and we wish him happy days ahead.

THOMAS J. COHOON

From the third year men here at A.M.A., we may be certain in picking one of the best if we pick Tom. His first year he was a private in "A" Company, and he roomed in 227 with Wilson, W. and Grace. Last year he became one of our few second year platoon sergeants, and he was in "A" Company, which became the Honor Company. This year he has risen to the rank of second lieutenant, and again he is superb in being one of the highest ranking third year men. He rooms with some other swell fellows, Snarr and Jackson, J. in No. 6. Tom is one of the representatives of his class in the Honor Committee and has proven himself to be very capable of such a position. His friendly personality has made him one of our best liked cadets. He, in his life here at school, has certainly shown that he is a capable officer and fine cadet; for these reasons we are sure of his making a good record for himself. He plans to enter West Point; we know that he will make it, as he has what it takes.

MAJOR E. E. RHOADES RECEIVES PROMOTION

It was announced recently that Major E. E. Rhoades was promoted from the grade of Major to that of Lt. Col. in the Army Air Corps Reserves. The entire corps and faculty join in congratulating this gentleman on his advancement.

GOVERNMENT ACADEMIES APPOINTEES

The Commandant recently announced that the following were candidates for the Honor School Appointment to the United States Naval Academy: Cadets McLoney and Collinge. Cadet Lea also took the examination as a presidential appointee candidate. Those named for the West Point appointment were Cadets McLoney, Thompson, J. F., and Mandes. Some time ago Cadet Cohoon took the mental and physical exams for West Point.

"PHANTOM MANOR"

(Editor's Note:—This is the first part of a serial by Cadet Baer.)

The obsolete craft was cutting quietly through the still waters of the bayous; darkness had fallen which produced an almost terrifying scene. Anonymous and mystical shadows were passing along the shore line, blending into the weird pattern of darkness.

I stared at my companion, the boatman. His face held an empty expression, and his lips were frozen in silence. His eyes were like empty sockets which gave the appearance of a human skull. I wanted to speak, but a foreign influence promptly checked this impulse. A few moments elapsed before our vessel at last struck the mud caked land. Paying the mute his wages, I left, beginning my trip of several hundred yards. Suddenly I turned, and looking back in the direction from whence I had come, I saw the boatman standing on the shore waving his arms, attempting to warn me of an impending danger. Shrugging my shoulders in disconcertment, and chuckling to myself, I continued, certain that there was nothing to fear.

It was not long before I spied the massive walls and extraordinary structure of Phantom Manor. Countless vines covered the cold stone house like long fingers of some grotesque hand. Its peaked windows looked as if they were a line of sentinels which lined the ramparts of an old fort. Its masonry had known the pangs of both joy and sorrow. My feeling of safety was gone and in its place was a feeling of dread and apprehension. The mass of stone and cement looked down upon me. Only a single light burned from within. Evidently my arrival was expected. This was the home of my friend and close associate, Fredric Baxter. He had requested my visiting the manor only a few days ago, and the letter held such an air of urgency, that I left as soon as possible. I had been puzzled by the contents of the message and to satisfy my curiosity I, as I stated, left immediately. Gathering scattered wits, I advanced boldly toward the heavy oaken door. I knocked once and then paused before knocking again; I waited with my hand on the weirdly designed knocker. Not a sound could be heard from within. I waited as patiently as one could under such circumstances; my heart resounded in my ears with a somewhat deafening thump. I continued to wait, and ultimately my efforts were rewarded. The silence was broken by approaching footsteps. The door opened with low creaks that seemed to suggest an oncoming peril. Before me silhouetted by the distant light stood my host; his tall, stocky form impressive, his complexion dark and mysterious. Upon entering I was astonished at the sight that befell me. The crystal chandeliers hung from the ceiling in utter splendor; the Oriental rugs covered the inlaid mahogany floor, and the walls shone in their marble smooth finish. The hearth was blazing forth with its comforting glow. I was altogether swept by the air of luxury that confronted me.

Fredric and I spent most of the evening in conversation, talking about our boyhood days and referring very little to the recent years. I could tell that he was troubled, and to add to my concern and suspense, he continued to avoid the matter. I spoke to him of his letter, but he refused to answer my questions.

The hours drifted by with a heavy drag, and it was quite late when I retired. It felt strange to be alone. I was restless, and sleep was impossible. I must have dozed off, for when I awoke, the sun was rising over the horizon. Ripping the covers from the bed, in horror, I heard a choking, relentless scream disturb the quiet of dawn!

CORPS TO ATTEND APPLE BLOSSOM FESTIVAL MAY 4

Major Roller by announcing to the cadet corps recently that he had finally obtained railroad coaches in which to transport the school to the Apple Blossom Festival in Winchester, practically completed the plans for this long-awaited trip.

The Bayonet will have their photographers on hand and will publish in the final issue of the school paper pictures of this famous event.

S. WILSON HARRELL

One of the "oldest" boys in barracks is Wilson Harrell. He came to us five years ago and has since made quite a name for himself. At present he holds the rank of second lieutenant in "C" Company and has shown his efficiency as an officer many a time. As a member of the second stoop tower he has again made himself quite conspicuous. Wilson plans to enter the Navy after graduation this June and he has our wishes for all the success possible.

ADVENTURES OF STUBBS PARKER

Gather round and pull up a chair for the next episode of that Son of Augusta, Stubbs Parker. When we left him in the last issue, Stubbs was still dozey from the blow he received on his head in a basketball game. (A new reason.) Stubbs left the Infirmary on a bright Saturday morning and headed for his humble abode in the sixth stoop tower. Major Roller had moved him, since the trap door had fallen on Henry's hand. He said he wanted to give the corporals more room as they came up every morning to raise the flag.

Stubbs noticed that his room was still straight and orderly as he had left it. So he stumbled through the tables and chairs, and waded through the clothes on the floor, and finally got to his favorite spot, the bed. Just as he was relaxing, he heard Osheroff wading through his own room downstairs screaming something about a rifle inspection that afternoon. "Well," thought Stubbs, "if I work real hard on my rifle, and borrow some clean clothes to wear, I may be able to work off some of my demerits. It's worth a try." So Stubbs quickly began struggling with his rifle. As he scraped the mud and dirt off the stock, a brilliant thought struck him. He figured that if he could be inspected in "A" Company then slip over to "B" Company and be inspected, then sneak over to "C" Company and be inspected again, and so on down the line, he could win quite a few merits at one inspection.

As soon as he had satisfied himself that he was the neatest cadet in school, much the same as Wreden does, he heard the bugle sound for inspection. He dashed down and was in ranks just a few minutes after fall in. That's unusual for Stubbs, who usually misses all the formations. When Fotinos came by inspecting, he looked at Stubbs and said, "Very fine dike, very fine rifle, give this man first place. What's your name?" "Stubbs Parker, sir," Stubbs snappily answered. As soon as Fotinos had gone on to the next squad, Stubbs slipped quietly over to the adjoining company, and almost immediately, Brewer approached him and he came smartly up to inspection arms. Brewer looked him over for at least thirty minutes and still couldn't find a thing wrong with him. "Very fine," said Brewer, "give this man first place. What's your name, son?" Stubbs almost slipped and gave his real name, but he couldn't get a place in more than one company so he told him his name was Pubbs Starker. Soon after he went to "C" Company and promptly won a place under the name of Stubbs Tarker. In "D" Company he told them his name was Bubbs Karker, and in "E" it was Mubbs Larker. This continued through every company in the battalion, until he had won seven places. Stubbs felt very proud of himself as he fell asleep that night. But he didn't know the hub-bub he had caused in the P. M. S. and T. office. There was a large gathering of faculty, including the military department in full force trying to figure where all these Markers, Starkers, Barkers, and so forth had come from. They finally decided to wrap it up in red tape and let it go.

Monday night in the Mess Hall, Major Roller stood up, and after discussing the weather and other weighty problems, he started reading the standings of the companies. He glanced them over and started reading. "First place in 'A' Company Stubbs Parker, second place Cadet Folline, third place Cadet Koltin. In 'B' Company, first place, Pubbs Starker; I've never heard of him. Who is he? Oh, well, let's get on. In 'C' Company, first place goes to Stubbs Tarker, hmmm, Stubbs Tarker, Tarker, Tarker, I can't quite place that name. Probably some new cadet. In 'D' Company Ruggs Marker wins first place. Now just a minute, O.D., have any new cadets come in recently?" "No, sir, Major." "Hmnnnn, that's strange," mused Major. "Major Hoover, Major Hoover, are you here tonight?" Quietly from the back of the Mess Hall came the slow, soft answer, "Yeah." Major Roller disregarded this and went on, "Have I got any new boys here by the name of Starker, Marker, Garker, Barker or the like?" "No sir, Major." Major tried a new angle. "Is Starker in the Mess Hall?" . . . No answer. "Is Barker in the Mess Hall?" . . . No answer. "Is Parker in the Mess Hall?" Finally the petrified Stubbs found his tongue, stood up and answered loudly, "it?" "I'm all of them, sir." "What?" Starker, Marker, Barker, or just what is it?" "I'm all of them, sir." "What?" exploded Major. "Now son, you can't do this to me. After all I've done for you, you stand up there lying to me. How can you expect me to believe that." "But it's true, Major," insisted Stubbs. "That's all," said Major as he strode over to Stubbs' table with a fiery glint in his eye. With "Six months in the hospital," he picked Stubbs up and hit him with "Sudden death." Now is the time to find out if Major's right hand is all that it is claimed to be. Is it really sudden death to be hit by it? Will Stubbs survive? All we can do is hope (not) and tune in next issue for our next installment of that roving, rollicking rascal, Stubbs Barker, error Stubbs Parker.

J BARRACKS

They say in the spring that a young man's fancy lightly turns to love but J Barracks cadets' love is baseball.

The Easter Bunny had a hard time finding us but we have everything from chocolate Easter eggs to real colored ones. He even brought Tracy back. Our latest pugilist is Dedrick.

Why does Congdon, J. drill Hailey, Mundin and Mann so much?

Take a peep in Room 341. They really have a nice collection of banners.

When Ramsauer jumps from his bed, the building shakes.

Wanted: Someone to make Oliver work.

Who's the sheik of J Barracks? Ask Steagall.

Seventh grade class-room floor received a new coat of varnish.

Mrs. Davis had to learn how to say "Wash your neck" in Spanish. English didn't work for Peralta.

"Bull" Pulliam's father was here for Easter—so were "Chappy" Chappellear's parents. You should have heard "Chappy" squeal when he saw the new Chrysler.

Collins, J. sister's birthday was the twenty-third. Why was Long, P. K. so interested in helping to buy a birthday present?

Sites, J. doesn't wait for spring to sit and dream. He does it all the time.

Robbins received his rifle when his mother and brother came Sunday.

Ward and Van Kirk are pals.

Wein is taking no chances; he already has his money for the final ball.

Jay Coulter had his civilian friend, Easter Sunday.

FREEPORT HIGH SCHOOL EDGES A.M.A. NINE

By CARROLL KNICELY

Augusta Military Academy lost yesterday, 11-9, at Ft. Defiance, to Freeport, N. Y., High School—but the defeat can't be attributed to Johnny Larus, Blue and White ace pitcher. Larus, after striking out seven of the opposing batters, knocking out a home run and a double for the academy, went down swinging on a third strike at the end of the ninth.

Freeport took the lead in the first frame, when Lozier and Hotaling scored on Moran's single. In the third, it was vice versa, three up and three down for the visitors as Sykes and Shirkey scored on Harry Barnes' single.

Inning three was a tough one for the locals as Callahan went out at home on Fredling's bunt; Murphy scored, and a fumble at first permitted Fredline to steal home, all in succession. It was the third also in which Larus homered.

The New Yorker's Hunt, Hotaling, and Callahan scored in the fourth, after which Moore went to his knees to take the fly from Moran in a sensational backhand catch. Putting four men at bat, AMA gained only a single in the fourth inning.

Another four-bagger came to Augusta in the fifth when Tyrell, catcher, laid one into deep left field. Nevertheless, Kobel and McKenna came back for Freeport to score.

Henry Barnes walloped a triple over short stop's head to tally on Koellmer's single. Larus allowed no hits for his guests in the sixth.

Number seven found McKenna, previously hit by the ball, coming home on Hunt's triple. Hunt scored on Lozier's single. The Augustans were put to bat when Third Baseman Henry Barnes made a double play, Lozier at third and Hotaling went down at first.

In the eighth, Freeport went down, 3-up-3-down. Koellmer, after walking, scored on Larus' double.

Then came the ninth. Four Long Islanders at bat, and three out with one man left on base. Eddy, pinch-hitting, walked. Bowie and Gilliam were out. Eddy scored on Henry Barnes' pop-up to short. Barnes scored on Koellmer's double. Koellmer stole home. Moore was walked, and Larus came to bat.

Hunt, who pitched for Freeport, presented an outstanding performance both at the bat and on the mound, and a great deal of praise is due Augusta's

AMA RUNNERS NO MATCH FOR BRIDGEWATER

Ft. Defiance, April 18—In the first meet of the season for both teams, the Augusta Military Academy trackmen were defeated 65-2-3 to 51 1-3 by Bridgewater College in Bridgewater this afternoon.

College placing trackmen were not available by name.

Academy placers in the meet were:

100-yard dash: Hepner, first; Spermo, second.

220-yard dash: Spermo, first; Winn, third.

440-yard dash: Judy, third.

800-yard dash: Hepner, first.

Pole vault: Simmons, second.

Shotput: Lingerfelt, second.

Discus: Rhoades, third.

Javelin: Snarr, second.

120-yard low hurdles: Simmons, first; Gordon, second.

120-yard High hurdle: Judy, first.

WOODBERRY FOREST SCHOOL DEFEATS AUGUSTA GOLFERS

In the first meet between their respective schools in this sport in many a year, Woodberry Forest easily defeated the Blue and White Golfers. The final score was 17½ to ½.

Our representatives in this sport for this occasion were Dave Brewer, Saxon, Barber and Seibold. Woodberry has one of the finest golf teams in this section of the country, their number one man having defeated the number one man of the state university. Future meets are with Woodberry Forest there and with Greenbrier here and there.

A. M. A. COURTMEN SQUELCH MASSANUTTEN PLAYERS

Fort Defiance, April 20—The Augusta Military Academy tennis squad defeated Massanutten Military Academy 5½ to 3½ on the new courts here today in the first matches held at AMA in four years.

Summary of results in the singles:

Burton (A) lost to Sepler (M) (2-6) (5-7); Coleman (A) defeated Rosenberg (M) (7-5) (6-1); Lappin (A) defeated Sceosica (M) (6-3) (6-4); Ducey (A) lost to Ruben (M) (5-7) (2-6); Clements (A) defeated Krundhart (M) (6-0) (6-0); Leper (A) lost to Maxwell (M) (4-6) (4-6).

Doubles summary:

Burton and Coleman (A) defeated Sepler and Rosenberg (M) (4-6 (6-2) (6-4); Ducey and Lappin (A) tied Sceosica and Ruben (M) (6-4) (6-4); Clements and Leper (A) defeated Krundhart and Maxwell (M) (0-2) (6-4) (6-2).

AUGUSTA'S NETMEN DEFEAT FISHBURNE

Monday afternoon, April 29, brought beautiful news to the Cadet Corps when the news was announced that our net team defeated Fishburne 3-2 in a match that was called by rain. Burton (AMA) defeated Doxey 6-8, 6-4 and 6-2. Coleman (AMA) defeated Tait 6-2 and 6-2. Clements (AMA) defeated Brent 6-4 and 6-1. Lepper lost Brown 6-0 and 6-0. Ducey (AMA) lost to Toms 6-1 and 6-1. Incidentally this was the first time that Doxey of FMS has been defeated this season.

AMA CHALKS UP TWO WINS

Fort Defiance, April 29—Augusta Military Academy chalked up victories in baseball and tennis over Fishburne Military School of Waynesboro here this afternoon. The diamond score was 6-1, and the court tally 3-2.

Moore, on the mound for AMA, limited the Fishburne squad to two hits, while the three hurlers for FMS—Smith, Rock, and Schinkles—held the local batsmen to six. Tyrell homered for the winners in the seventh inning.

The Fishburne netmen, 1945 champions, suffered their first setback this afternoon, and two of their men—Doxey and Tate—their first losses this season.

Summaries of the two contests follow:

TENNIS
